

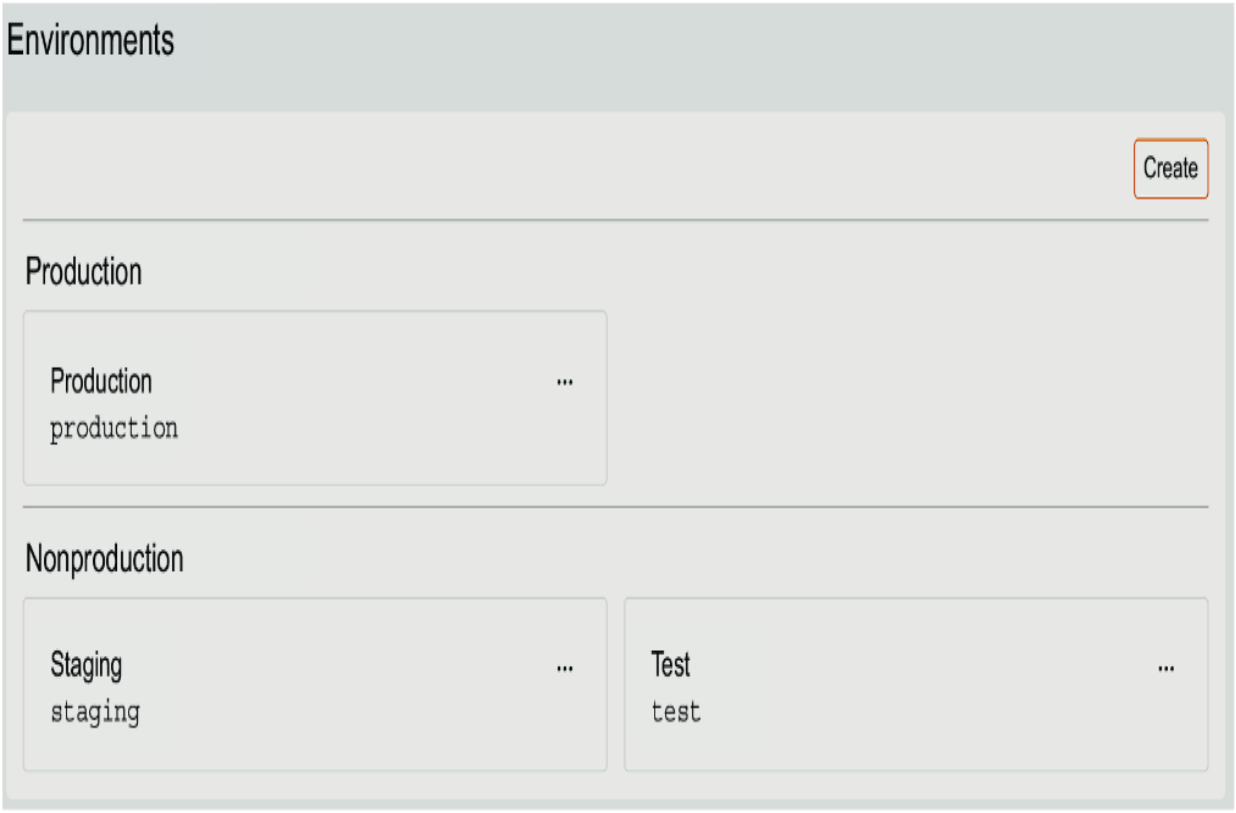

Figure 10.8 The list of environments that PactFlow knows now includes the newly created staging environment.

If you prefer to use PactFlow's UI, you can also edit or delete any of the environments created. To add a new environment using the UI, you can click the Create button, as shown in figure 10.8, and you should see a popup screen appear (see figure 10.9). You can provide the Name, Display Name, and whether it's a production environment from this screen.