

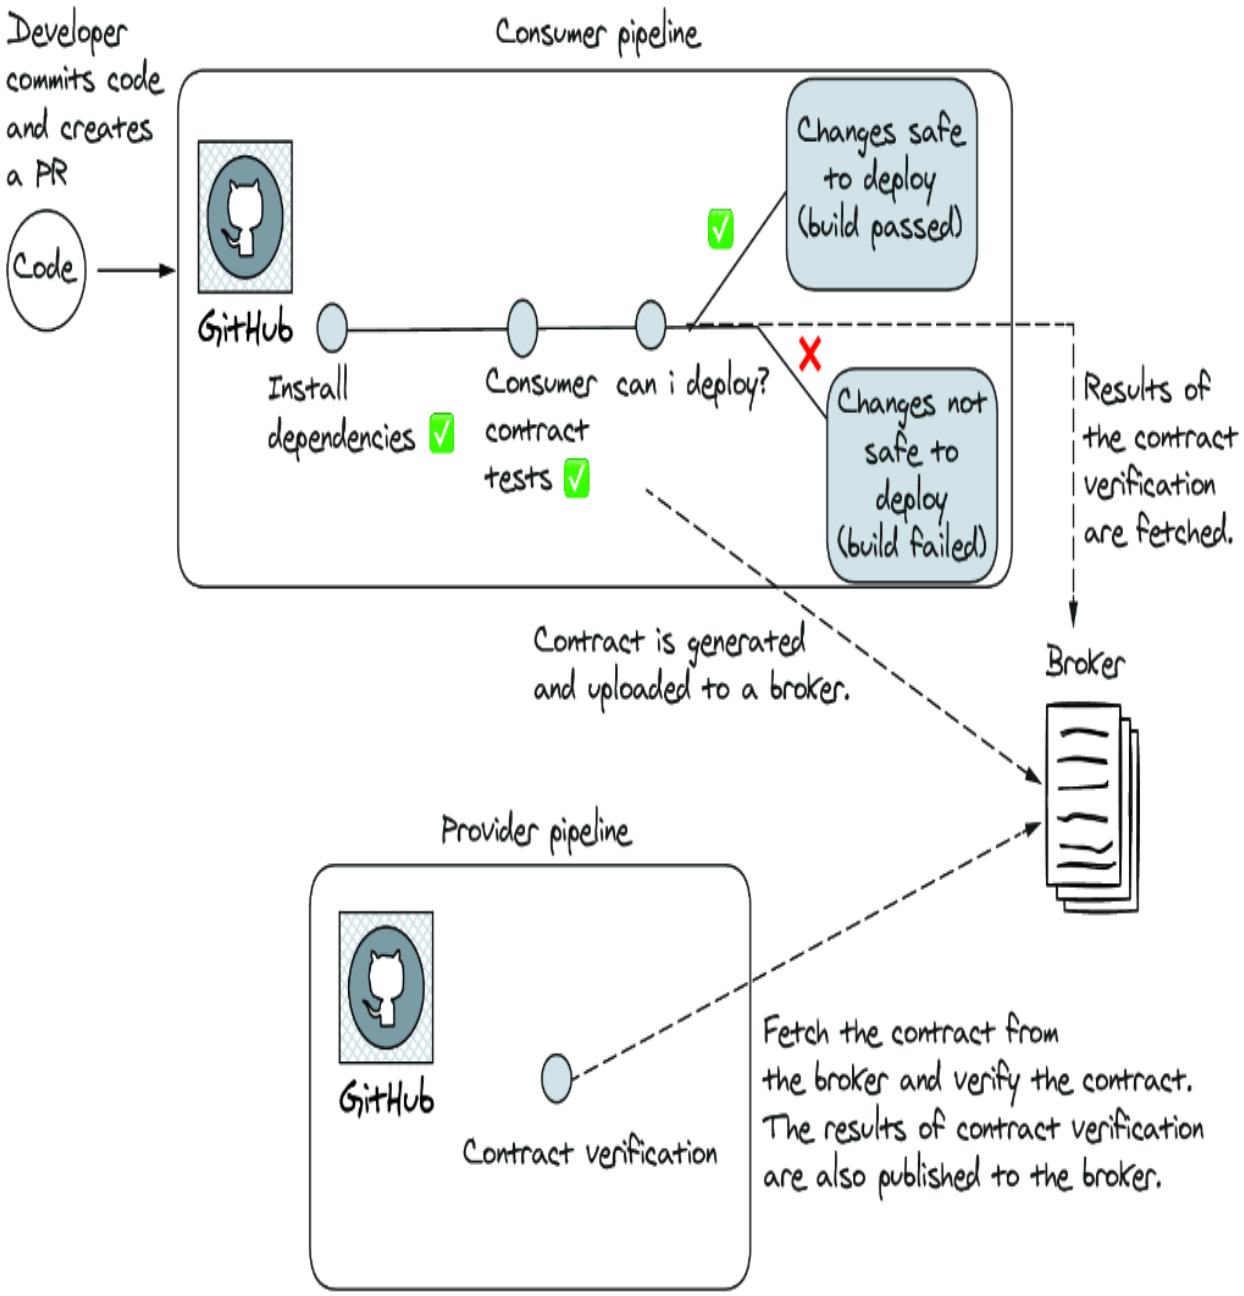

Figure 2.12 A basic consumer pipeline workflow that also includes a manual job for triggering contract verification on the provider pipeline

Let's break down what is happening here:

1. A developer pushes their code and creates a pull request on the consumer codebase.
2. The consumer contract test is triggered, and the consumer uploads the contract to a central place, called a broker, that the provider can also