- The routing rules are enforced by an ingress controller, which is an application that also runs in the cluster.