The result should be similar to what you can see in figure 13.3, showing the logs from application startup as well as the custom log messages you added to the `BookController` class.