

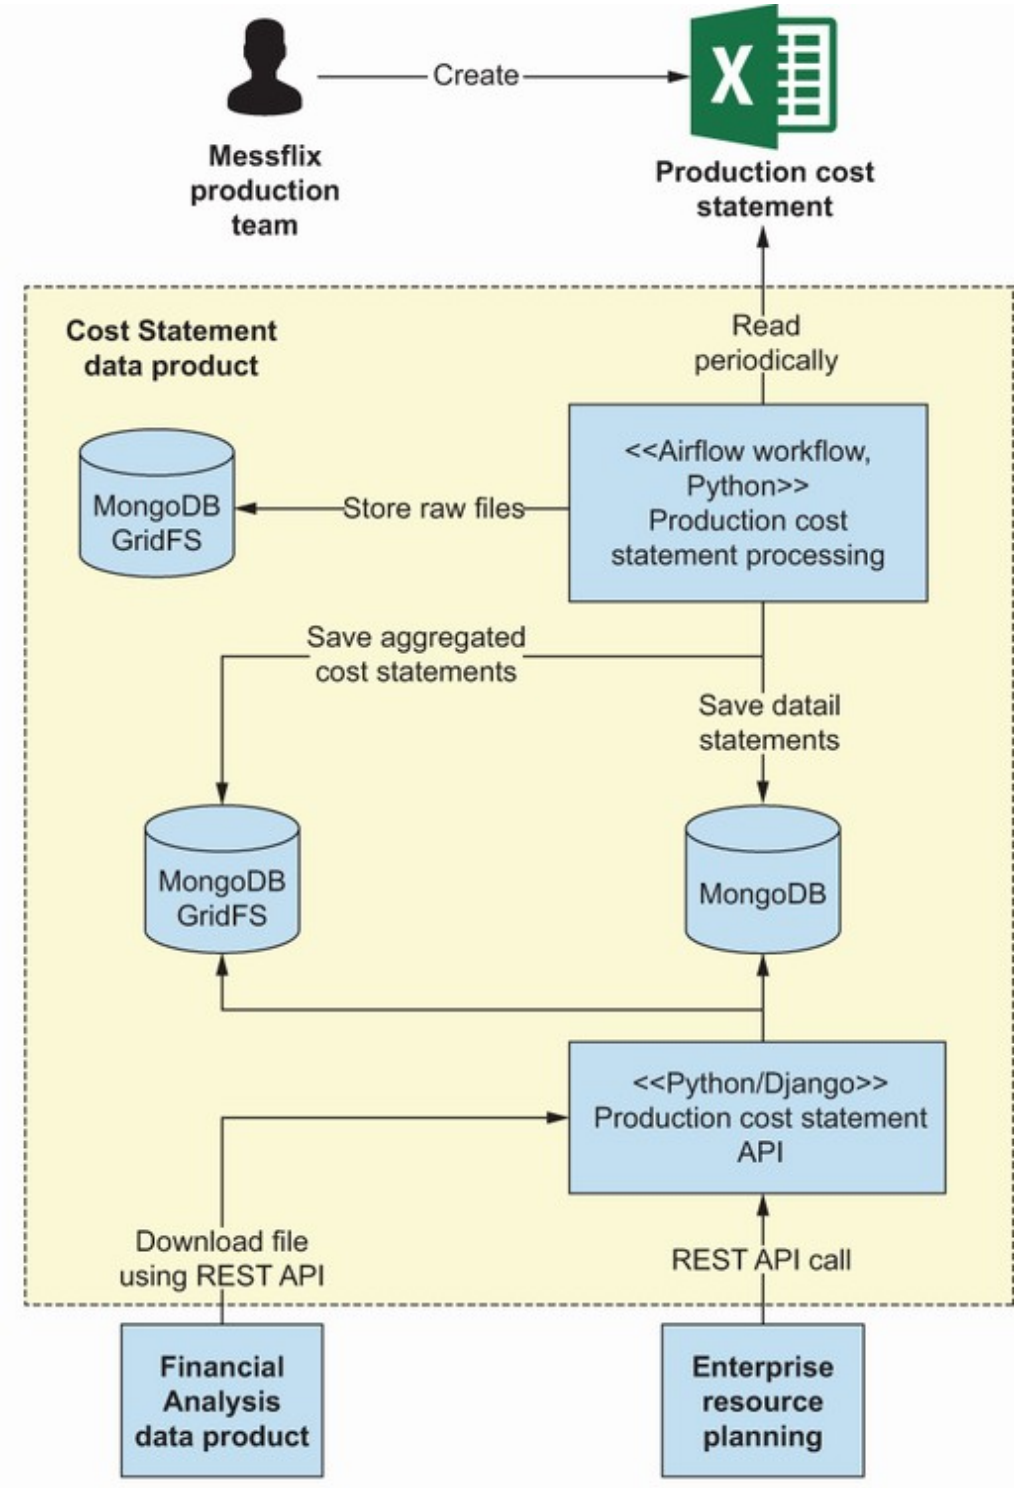

Figure 9.10 Final design of the Cost Statement data product

We decide to use a single database and a single programming language and take advantage of the Airflow cluster platform.