

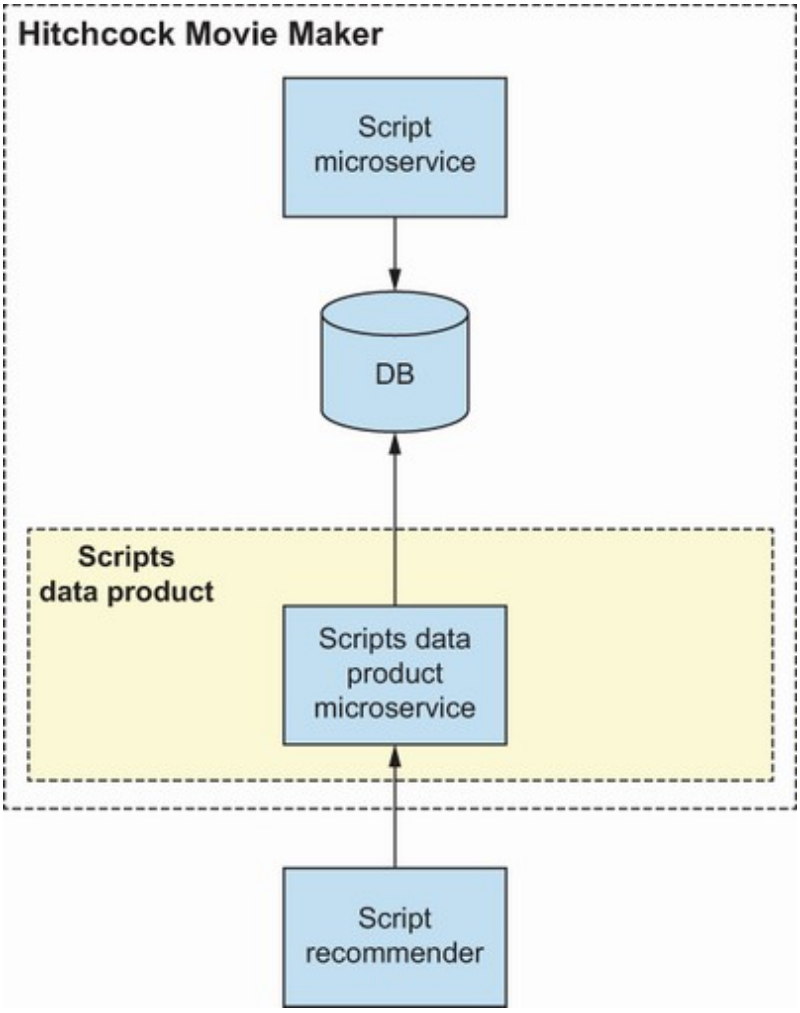

Figure 9.17 Design option 2 for the Scripts data product

With options 2 (figure 9.17) and 3 (figure 9.18), we are gradually increasing complexity while decreasing coupling. In option 2, instead of being a module in the script service, the data product is now an independent microservice. In option 3, we are moving one step forward and giving the data product microservice its own database.