

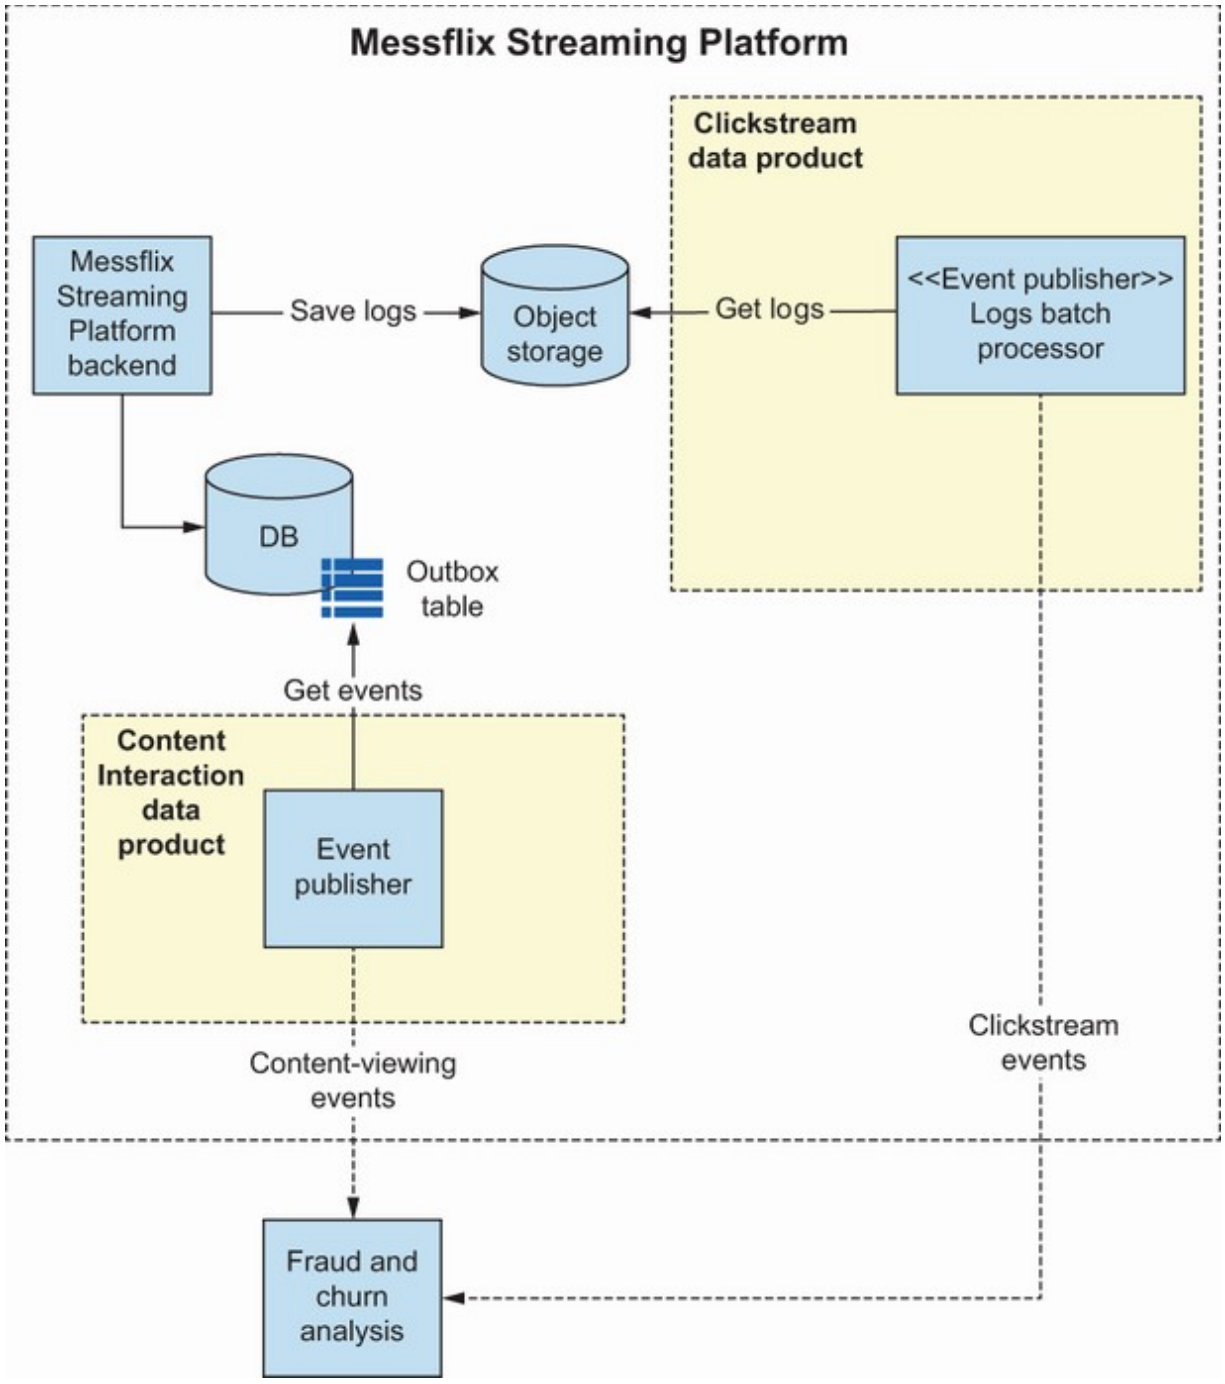

Figure 9.21 The outbox pattern and event publishing in batches

The first idea is applicable whenever we need to transform files into events. When you look at the Clickstream data product in figure 9.21, you can see that it retrieves log files from object storage, extracts and cuts them into