    - X as service 200 – 205
    - application of 203 – 205
    - workshop tool-building as a service 201 – 202
- semantic metadata 147
- Shared core section, Cast data product canvas 129
- sharing agreements
    - implementing 160 – 161
    - inside data mesh 157 – 161
- Simple Storage Service (S3), Amazon 222, 230
- sinks 228, 243
- Skelton, Matthew 201
- SMART (specific, measurable, attainable, relevant, and time based) 52
- snow-shoveling business use case 11 – 15
    - business decision drivers 32
    - development cycle 48 – 49
- socio-technical architecture 25 – 27
    - cognitive load 26 – 27
    - Conway's law 25
    - team topologies 26
- socio-technical complexity 33
- software engineering maturity 34 – 35
- solution architecture design 281
    - architectural drivers of data product design 252 – 259
    - capturing 255 – 259
    - constraints 254
    - functional requirements 253
    - principles 254
    - quality attributes 253 – 254
    - current state 248 – 252
    - C4 model 249 – 252
    - software architecture 248 – 249
    - designing future architecture 259 – 279
    - design session 260
    - exposing data for stream processing and batch processing 275 – 279
    - file-based data product 260 – 265
    - from monolith and microservice to data product 266 – 275
- Source aligned section, Cast data product canvas 129