Databricks subject matter experts, we want to extend our heartfelt gratitude to each of you who took the time to review the text and code. The speed at which Databricks evolves with technology makes it an incredible feat to be current. Your guidance and support throughout this journey has been invaluable. Your contributions have not only enhanced the technical accuracy and depth of our book but have also provided invaluable context and perspective rooted in your firsthand experiences at Databricks.